COOL ROME HOTELS THAT PERFECTLY COMBINE LUXURY & CULTURE

If hospitality is an art, these hotels are Da Vinci level masterpieces.

✍ James Booth | 📅 27 Mar, 2019

If Florence is a flaccid Carbonara, Rome is a tongue-punching Arrabbiata.

From the Colluseum to the pepperoni-packed pizza, Italy's hot-blooded capital has oodles to offer casual tourists, honeymooners and business travellers alike. When in Rome, however, there is a lot more to soak up than the romantic comedies would have you believe.

Between the thrumming streets, haunting ruins, legendary art and gorgeous wines, you don't want to waste un secondo worrying about your hotel. To the contrary: you'd like to choose a place that elevates your stay. But choosing the right tapestry for your trip is no easy task.

Singer Palace Hotel

'Extra' in the Instagram sense of the word and tasty in every sense of the word, the Singer Palace Hotel is a royal retreat with raved-about staff, top-notch food and the famous pantheon at a five-minute stroll. On the other hand, if you feel like staying put there is an exquisite rooftop lounge at your disposal, with more pastel colours than you can throw a paintbrush at, as well as drinks, snacks and views to match. Plus, for the shopaholics, Singer Palace puts you molto close to retailers like Rolex, Gucci, H&M, Nike and Zara. Dolce Vita indeed.

From $488 per night.
